

Acknowledgment

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to:

Professor Dr. K.-H. Rieder for the possibility to work in his group on a very interesting topic,

Priv.-Doz. Dr. R. Koch for the interest in my work and his willingness to be the co-referee,

Dr. Stefan Fölsch for imparting his knowledge about surface science and SPA-LEED, for his motivation and inspiration during the whole time, and especially for his help during the preparation of this manuscript,

Dr. Kai-Felix Braun for the support using the STM,

Dr. Jascha Repp for sharing his experience with NaCl and for many interesting discussions, and all other members of the group for a very pleasant atmosphere, especially

Katharina Franke and Leo Gross for the proof reading of this manuscript,

Angelika Scheffler for all the big and little things she helped with, and Christian Roth for his technical support.

Special thanks I would like to express to my parents and my wife Kylie for their encouragement and their support.
